

The MET Opera means so much to me. When I watch the MET Opera in HD, it feels like I am with a friend. I keep being better and better friends with that friend as time goes on and I see more productions. It is like I have a second home. The opera brings joy into my life and it makes me want to watch more, so my love just increases every time I see an opera.

One of my dreams is trying to get more people to watch operas. It is really valuable because it feels like I am gaining more love for opera every time I see one, so for me, it is like collecting gold. I started a club called The Kids Opera & Art Posse two years ago to get more kids into opera.

Sincerely, Layla

We couldn't resist sharing this delightful letter from a wonderful, young opera fan.

It is imperative that we grow and nurture our young audience to sustain the future of opera.
